Director Gail Golden-Birdsong earned her degree at San Jose State University having studied under Dr. Charlene Archibeque. She also studied voice with Jeanne Garson at San Jose State and has been on five international concert tours including Italy and Austria.

The Chamber Singers began their ensemble with eight auditioned singers from the Foothill Concert Choir, who participated in the Music Association of California Community Colleges Honor Choir in November, 1988. Auditions were held in January, 1989, and auditioned singers have been added to the group since. They now are called the Foothill College Chamber Singers.

These two choirs have joined in a combined effort for today's performance. Sitton, Conductor of the Peninsula Master Chorale is Guest Conductor for the Skyline College Choir. We are delighted that this combination of talent could be with us today for our second festival.

Patricia Hannings, Director of the Skyline College Choir has another commitment for today's date with a second group, The Peninsula Women's Chorus, which she also directs. Ms. Hannings holds a doctorate in choral music from Stanford University.
